

Beacon

Monolink

There's a firelight deep inside, it's burning
And it shows you where to look when all is black
Watch it climb now see the dust tornadoes turning
For the letters that you burned ain't coming back

So you hold your heart to the light
And you lay out all the things you find inside
I am human I am child
Torn apart and reconciled
I'm the voice that tells you you will be alright

I'm the beacon

Listen to your feet, your soles are burning
The circles that you walk are what you choose
It's not the first time you find yourself learning
But if nothing's right, there's nothing left to lose

So you hold your heart to the light
You've been waiting for this moment all your life
I am human I am child
Torn apart and reconciled
I'm the voice that tells you you will be alright

I'm the beacon
I'm the beacon
I'm the beacon
I'm the beacon
