

Light Up My Dark

Monolink

I tend to be so critical
And I tend to overthink
Sometimes I get so quiet
When I can't feel myself

But you shine right through me
And your light fills up my heart
I don't know how you do this, but you
You light up my dark
You light up my dark

You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark

Now here's just a few lines
But I wrote them just for you
I love to be lying next to you
When the morning lays it dew

'Cause there is so much color
In the way you see the world
Every detail becomes a living thing
Every whisper gets heard

And I love the way you kiss me
Before we even speak a word
In silence we're becoming one
In silence I feel heard

You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
You light up my dark
