

Free from our bonds
No longer alone
Never born we'll never die
No need for crowns
We wear the stars now
An infinite fractal of light
Every grain contains them all
Once bound by choice
There is no wrong and there is no right

The answers always clear
The spaces in between
We're choosing now to change
We see the need to leave
And we openly know where we belong
Justice will prevail as the regimes fall...

Nothings ever been this clear
No one needs to feel alone
And the change is set to seed
But we need to take this new form
Love is truly here
We just need to let it breathe
We have glimpsed a new aporia
In the moon light of our gnosis
But no sick world can grow
Its black and white evolve
Dreams are like disease no wars just regenerate

Why can't we grow just like some new flesh?
Cheating lords unlike this new death
Why can't we grow under this new flesh?
There's no regrets for what we save!
