Takes Two

Moonchild

It's clockwork
He happens to be by my place
Every third Sunday
Couldn't hurt
Those words are gonna dig my grave
I'll learn someday

It ain't just hello
He don't need to know how I've been
Four times in a row
I swore it wouldn't work again

When he stops calling
I'll stop falling (It takes two, it takes two)
When he stops calling
I'll stop falling (It takes two, it takes two)

Don't know why (Don't know)
Maybe the rain and all that wine
I called him
Spent all night
Soaking up his sweet side
Forgetting

He leaves me so low
I don't need to know how he's been
This time tomorrow
I'll fix it with a safety pin

When he stops calling
I'll stop falling (It takes two, it takes two)
When he stops calling
I'll stop falling (It takes two, it takes two)
I'll stop falling

The greatest gift that you could give to me
Is to leave and stay gone
The greatest gift that you could give to me
Is to leave and stay gone
The greatest gift that you could give to me (Me)
Is to leave and stay gone

The greatest (It takes two)
The greatest (Oh, it takes two, oh)
The greatest (Takes two)
