

Hold It Down

Morcheeba

It's been a helluva journey
Went a long, long way from home
But you know that you're worthy
You'll return to take that throne

On a life-long lesson
Waking up, you're the teacher now
Oh, you kept us all guessing
But you made it through somehow

Homeward bound
On a bullet train, as you're looking out
You better know you can hold it down
You're coming up overground

Up to your neck in water
But the sun shines through the clouds
When you're a mother of a daughter
You can never be more proud

And I know of the heartache
Yes, I know that you're full of doubt
In the glow of your glory
You can rewrite the lines of your story now
Ain't no doubt

Homeward bound
On a bullet train, as you're looking out
You better know you can hold it down
You're coming up overground

So we draw the line, starting one more time
A brand new day
Holding on for life, love is on the rise
Redeemed you've been Lost and found
You're homeward bound
You better know you can hold it down
You're coming up overground

Homeward bound
On a bullet train, as you worked it out
The record shows you can hold it down
You're coming up overground
