

Farewell

Morgan Page

I can't see your fist in the mist of the hatred you brought and the lies that you told
But I still hear your voice in sounds just the same as before i n the depths of my soul

And you build me up just to watch me drown
Watch the rain come down, you're fading now
You're fading now, you're fading now

I'll be just fine
Watch me prove it
If all else fails
This is my goodbye and my farewell
This is my goodbye and my farewell

Take one last look in my eyes and remember the pain that you br ought and the lies that you spoke Take one last look, you won't find me again when you need me th e most cause you let me go

And you build me up just to watch me drown
Watch the rain come down, you're fading now
You're fading now, you're fading now

I'll be just fine
Watch me prove it
If all else fails
This is my goodbye and my farewell
This is my goodbye and my farewell

Never felt your touch
Where were you when the sun went down and I needed you, babe?
I had no home, I'm alone where the light doesn't shine
And the darkness awaits me, babe

I'll be just fine
Watch me prove it
If all else fails
This is my goodbye and my farewell
This is my goodbye and my farewell
