

Days End

MorMor

So used to hoping I might find a way
And all I know is all I have to say
Crimson skies disguise a dying flame
The way

The way I do
Mhmm

What you do so fine baby
Pain seems to drift away
Light flickers on my own
When silence takes your place
How I fear that something's wrong
Now sorrow sings along
Oh how the song cries
I fear the light is out

Tell me who's gon' hold me when I'm not enough
Now that you're gone

The way I do
Mhmm
The way I do
Mhmm
The way I do

As I look towards the heavens
No one seems to know
If losing you was a lesson
I need somebody to hold
Someone to lean my head on
Darkness is my own
Every time I try to cry
The tears don't seem to run

Underneath the moonlight
You gazed into my dull eyes
Wind loses movement
Stillness seems to feel right
How life seemed so simple
When we knew so little
Waiting on the sun to rise
Waiting on the sun

To love someone
To love someone
To love someone
Lose someone
Lose somebody else

To love someone
To love someone
Lose someone
Lose somebody else

Part of me
I feel I'm missing something

Something, something alone
Part of me
I fear I'm missing something
Something, something alone
Part of me
I fear I'm missing something
Something, something alone
Part of me
I fear I'm missing something
Something, something alone
Part of me