

American Dream

Giorgio Moroder

Got to be the best that you can be So you leave it behind belie ving in your dream. On the threshold of what you've been told

Got to grab a hold 'cause the streets are paved with gold.

You work so hard just to break the ice gotta make the dream com e true And you take a chance when you roll the dice then it all comes back to you.

An American dream came true the vision coming into view. Now ca n you hear it calling you? Somehow I always knew:

An American dream came true

an open door that I walked through. I hit it with the cards I d rew. Lightning strikes from the blue

It's calling you - American dream.

At the speed of light every night and day Living on the edge bu t the dream won't go away. Follow your plan 'cause you know you can Make it to the top wanna hold it in your hand.

You work so hard just to break the ice . . . An American dream came true an open door that I walked through . . . An American dream came true

the vision coming into view. . . .

An American dream came true

an open door that I walked through. I hit it with the cards I d rew. Lightning strikes from the blue

An American dream came true.
