

Solitary Man

Giorgio Moroder

Never sleep by myself, these nights are too long, for a single man

No connections, no times, hello and goodbye, that's the way I am.

I can't satisfy your dream, don't you hang your heart on me.

I love you hard, I love you long, leave before you know I'm gone.

I was born a solitary man, solitaire was always my game.

And I never got the fear of pain, playing solitaire, solitary man.

I've been lonely so long, I couldn't tell, if she came my way.

And I wouldn't say no, if only I knew, love too many the same.

If you satisfy my dream, you could make a man of me.

I love you hard, I love you long, and I never walk alone.

I was born a solitary man, solitaire was always my game.

And I never got the fear of pain, playing solitaire, solitary man.
