

Valley of Sacrifice, Pt. 2

Mors Principium Est

Dreams are real in the magic field
There the illusions are sky high
So unlock your gates to that world
Spread your wings and fly to the other side
Of this dreamworld where none
Shall be forgotten to the sun
To the sun

Darkness is lost god is just gone
Dreams are won to the morning sun

Valley is peace with the enemy of the kingdom
In disharmony
The great unknown just want to show
From where this morning sun rises

Can you hear the silence?
What it says to you?
It's only what you want to hear
It's only a dream and dreams are real

Valley is peace with the enemy of the kingdom
In disharmony
The great unknown just want to show
From where this morning sun rises

Those creatures are crying
This silence is fading
To get out from this pain
I have to be the one to blame

In the beginning
I found myself from an empty valley
Where the prince of power kept the souls
I decided to live, so I died
And now for the first time
That I'm almost alive
I have to die

And in the kingdom where the sacrifice is held
I yearn the moonless sky
The holy flame will take our lives
The ancient gods, they all will salute our souls
And welcome us into deepest dark damnation

Can you feel the agony?
What it shows to you?
It's only what you want to see
It's only a dream and dreams are real

Those creatures are crying
This silence is fading
To get out from this pain
I have to be the one to blame

Those creatures
This silence

To get out
I have to