Scratch The Surface

Moses Sumney

Every story needs an introduction
Can you introduce me to our love?
And I've been hiding from my own destruction
Hoping you'll protect me from above

All my life I have been locked away
But if you're here to stay

Won't you scratch the surface for me?
You scratch the surface for me

And I've in and out of introspection
Pulling at the harlots of the heart
And we're both looking for a new reaction
But we'll never know if we don't start

All my life I walked away
But if I'm here to stay

Won't you scratch the surface for me?
You scratch the surface for me

And I've looked the other way
But now, I'm un-afraid to say

Won't you scratch the surface for me?
You scratch the surface for me

You scratch the surface for me
You scratch the surface for me
You (scratch the surface for me)
You (scratch the surface for me)
You (scratch the surface for me)
You scratch the surface for me
