

Know you think you're above me, it's kinda funny
Oh, oh, but I'm not laughing at your jokes
You always patronize me, so I'll politely
Oh, oh, tell you off soon as I go

I only have myself to blame 'cause I knew
The second you thought that baby girl was my name

I should've trusted my intuition, something's missing
'Cause I heard all the sirens but I didn't listen
Like a premonition, tunnel vision
Makin' me regret all those nights you stayed in bed
Got me thinking I should've slept and trusted my
Intuition, got me wishing I went home instead

Dreadin' you play me and mansplain me
Oh, oh, always tell me why I'm wrong
The second I leave you if I never see you again
It won't be long enough

I only have myself to blame 'cause I knew
The second you thought that baby girl was my name

I should've trusted my intuition, something's missing
'Cause I heard all the sirens but I didn't listen
Like a premonition, tunnel vision
Makin' me regret all those nights you stayed in bed
Got me thinking I should've slept and trusted my
Intuition, got me wishing I went home instead

I'm so sick of taking the blame, 'cause I knew
The second I move on, baby, I'll hear you say

I should've trusted my intuition, something's missing
'Cause I heard all the signs but I didn't listen
Like a premonition, tunnel vision
Makin' me regret all those nights you stayed in bed
Got me thinking I should've slept and trusted my
Intuition, got me wishing I went home instead