

Dead Rising

Motorjesus

Bury the dead, but they are still alive
They're returning from the tomb, crawling back from the night
Coming to life, there's a need to survive
When you're running with the devil there's no place to hide

They're on the rise, there's no afterlife
It's the smell of rotten death coming from the inside
Straight outta hell, still awake and arise
They are back for double damage, coming for you tonight

When you're running from the soulless spawn
The army of the undead rises, marching soulless in the streets
Life is shifting to another form
The evil is coming and there never ever will be a release

Dead rising
Dead rising
There is an evil when the dead are running free
Dead rising
Dead rising
When death is calling and there will be no release

66 devils crawling back from the dead
Running back for annihilation in this hour of dread
The black devil brings the army to life

The swarm of the undead that cannot be denied

[Verse 4
There's no escape from the hell, comes to life
Being buried in the deep where the end is alright
They're coming out, better run for your lives
To be eaten by the dead, you won't survive tonight

When it's calling from a demon storm
In search of life they pull you underneath, the end of humanity

Dead rising
Dead rising
There is an evil when the dead are running free
Dead rising
Dead rising
When death is calling and there will be no release

When the dead walk around
When the ending is close somehow
Alive but buried down
When the evil is rising from the underground

Dead rising
Dead rising
There is an evil when the dead are running free
Dead rising
Dead rising
When death is calling and there will be no release

No release!

Dead rising!
