

New Messiah Of Steel

Motorjesus

Burn it up now, cause the heat is up we run the city streets, leave em' in the dust take em' down now, gotta leave em' all behind the race is coming on in the city of steel you gotta bring it back, man behind the wheel turn the heat up, cause you wont be second best you got to stand the test elimination, gotta run for your life we crank it up now, its the final ride the time is comin up, as we finally ignite you're running past the time

In the streets of evil, there are places you can go paved with good intentions is the road to hell you know far from good and evil is the time to overcome taken down your enemies, a new savior again on the run

We've come for the final run we are the wheels of fire unbroken holy one behold the new messiah of steel we reach out for the crown in city streets of fire rise from the broken down revive the new messiah of steel

Take it back now, its the final run start breaking through the walls, now the time has come speeding on the track, the heat is on your back on the wasteland plains, born of fire and steel turn it into dust, it will be revealed leader of the pack, he keeps on coming back

Engines keep on roaring, as you staying on the track fuel and burning rubber, there's no need for turning back the race against the time upon the city streets of black once sent from the cross, when he is coming for the the final attack

We've come for the final run....

In this raging firestorm, inside the wire, we will collide good and bad against each other, run till the end of time carmageddon is coming as worlds will finally collide it's the speedway for the final fight

We've come for the final run...

We've come for the final run...
