

Lux Aeterna

Motorpsycho

We die alone
We are sentient then we're bone
Numbers and names on a gravestone
It ends today
Take the pain away
There's nothing left for anyone to say

The end is grey, an emptiness
That allows our grief to coalesce
And make the sorrow harder to suppress
We live our lives, we sweat and toil
Then shuffel off this mortal coil
And leave our worn out flesh beneath the soil
But when we go we are released
Our disagreements all appeased
We're memories just floating on the breeze
And hopefully our souls are all at peace

Love me and set me free
I'm all I will ever be
I'm only me

Only now and only here

No five-year plan and no career
Strip the noise away and make things clear
Only this and nothing more
A multiverse left to explore
The big release will open up the door
And take away the pain forevermore

Universal now
Not you, but a part of all
Please take a bow

Love me and set me free
I'm all I will ever be
I'm only me

Eternal light
Pure and clear and bright
To light our way and help us through the night
It ends today
Take the pain away
There's nothing left for anyone to say

Love me and set me free
I'm all I will ever be
I'm only me