

Unknown World

Mount Eerie

Now I think I'm the only one awake
All these human bodies sleeping while driving
And I can just barely keep myself up
This comfortable life knows

Easing into the bed
There is warm water rising
All day long and into the night
Being lulled, accumulating dust

Our house lights up the whole neighborhood
We have the lights on, working
All day long and into the night
Not knowing it's raining

But just before going to bed
I'm called out the back door
There is an owl, the grass is wet
What's that other sound?

The air in the branches