Cover The Roots / Lower The Stems

Moving Mountains

You know it's really hard to do, to think of anyone but you And how your soul lives in my own The trees are growing roots that will hold your heart Inside your chest where you lay Fear no more my son, because someday the trees will sing And I know that someday will come, Where the trees are growing roots among the place we used to Sit and breathe the air. Someday, someday the trees will sing, Oh my god! My heart is with you now! And my body is growing roots That will hold your feelings down. And I will sing a song for you, where a thousand pandas Dance under the warmth and ocean blue.