

Forget

Mr.Kitty

If you can tell me the words I've spoken
I'll repair the things that I have broken
And when you hold me just like a token
Will you please throw me into the ocean?

Why don't you, please, forget me
Why don't you forget me now
Why don't you, please, forget me
Why don't you forget me now

The day you found me I was uneasy
You did what you could to not displease me
But when my crutches dissolved beneath me
You watched me stumble you didn't need me

Why don't you, please, forget me
Why don't you forget me now
Why don't you, please, forget me
Why don't you forget me now
