Never Trust A Stranger

MSG (Michael Schenker Group)

Sometimes the conversations get me down
Oh and sometimes you talk until my head spins round
You paid the price for your sanity
Now baby look at you, so much for your honesty.

There was a time and place not long ago
I was the property that you bought and sold
Just like the kid in the candy store
I gave you everything but still You asked for more

Remember, just remember, remember
Mama told you never trust a stranger
Cause now you're old enough to look
You want to see, what you can see

Don't look back until you're out of danger
Cause there's always someone wants some sympathy, oh

What do I say, it's all been said and done
Here I go again that drifter on the run
I don't know all the clever lines, is is true?
Did I lose this time?

Remember, just remember, remember
Mama told you never trust a stranger
Cause now you're old enough to look
You want to see, what you can see

Don't look back until you're out of danger
Cause there's always someone wants some sympathy

Remember, just remember, remember
Mama told you never trust a stranger
Cause now you're old enough to look
You want to see, what you can see

Don't look back until you're out of danger
Cause there's always
someone wants some sympathy

Mama told you never trust a stranger
Cause now you're old enough to look
You want to see, what you can see

Don't look back until you're out of danger
Cause there's always
someone wants some sympathy
Oh, woah

Yes there's always someone wants some sympathy
