

I found some pages hard to read the mystery of you all at once unveiled you simplified me more confused there's so much more t o you than I would've guessed I confess I found some pages hard to read I see why you turn the pages quick your soul lies nake d on the page the words and pictures not intended for other bro ken hearts than yours you get to know yourself better, you get to know yourself too well