

Here I Am

Much The Same

Life is more uncertain now
And I'm searching for tomorrow but I know My life is in your hands
Had my future laid out
The next few years all played out in my head
But I am just a man
Here I stand with no plans before me
So here I am, submitting full control
I can't stand not knowing what's before me
So here I am, playing my role
I'm not used to giving up control
Feeling I'm not living up to your standards
But I just want to obey
I can plan out day and night
Look at darkness or bathe in light, but what matters
Is that I walk in faith
