

Begin Again

Mumford & Sons

I guess I should begin again
I'm ready and I'm kind of relieved
To shed that skin

Could I persuade you to begin again?
Experience is killing the way we used to lie
I was on your side

Give it up
Don't wait
There's nothing left to run from anyway
What happened to your good faith
Give it up
While you can
Don't carry your father's sins more than you can take
I swear there's another way

You think we're living under different skies
I think maybe you forgot that we belong
In each others' eyes
I'm in the desert and the earth shakes
Can we undo the folded lies that mean
Love has left this place?
How did we lose our way?

Give it up
Don't wait
What happened to your good faith?
Give it up
While you can
Don't carry your father's sins more than you can take
I swear there's another way

We're made of the same dust
Can you see a way out?

Give it up
While you can
Don't carry your father's sins, you're still in pain
I swear there's another way
