MUNA

What you want from me
Is all of my time wasted on you
Trying to teach me a lesson
Well baby I learned one thing from you
You can try to be my hell, to be my beating
But every time I love myself, it hurts your feelings

So if I feel real good tonight
I'm gonna put it high on the loudspeaker
And if I feel like crying, I won't hide it
I am a loudspeaker
I am a loudspeaker
I am a loudspeaker

What you've done to me
Well I've seen many a friend be silenced
Thinking nobody would believe them
Well baby you've got another thing coming
You can try to make me stop, call it delusion
But every time I don't shut up, it's revolution

So if I feel real good tonight
I'm gonna put it high on the loudspeaker
And if I feel like crying, I won't hide it
I am a loudspeaker
I am a loudspeaker
I am a loudspeaker

I don't know where the blame lies
But you better believe I'm not gonna carry it all
I don't know where the shame dies
But it's helping me to scream this is not my fault
I don't know where the blame lies
But you better believe I'm not gonna carry it all
I don't know where the shame dies
But it's helping me to scream this is not my fault
I don't know where the blame lies
But you better believe I'm not gonna carry it all
I don't know where the shame dies
But it's helping me to scream this is not my fault
But it's helping me to scream
Not, not my fault

So if I feel real good tonight
I'm gonna put it high on the loudspeaker
If I feel like crying, I won't hide it
I am a loudspeaker
