

dying proof

Munn

Am I wrong? And if so, tell me
But I don't trust TV news
And I long for simple days to laugh away and waste an afternoon
She'll say she feels the same
And she loves my Midwest point of view
So let's run to find a place to laugh away and waste a day or two

Oh-oh, I fell in love again
And we all know how that ends

A bruised and broken heart
But brave enough to start again
It's sickening to lie, the good guys always win
I'm dying proof
The love ain't fair even if you're while you lose
Can anyone come prove me wrong?

You're sure right from the lack of trying
It's all thanks to mom, who raised me true
I hate the love and slow like hold the souls is all I know to do
She'll say she feels the same
When she loves my Midwest point of view
But don't change to chase the world of a hundred hearts who can never be like you

Oh-oh, I fell in love again
But we all know how that ends

A bruised and broken heart
But brave enough to start again
It's sickening to lie, the good guys always win
I'm dying proof
The love ain't fair even if you're while you loose
Can anyone come prove me wrong?

I don't wanna be right
That every time, I quote a love again
I leave a little less innocence
So I pray it's not true
That maybe it's you who breaks the narrative
But we all know how that ends

A bruised and broken heart
But brave enough to start again
It's sickening to lie, the good guys always win
I'm dying proof
The love ain't fair even if you're while you lose
So please, come prove me wrong