

two lost souls

Munn

A midwest boy
A girl from East
Who would've dreamt of such a thing
But now I know
The Good Lord holds
A funny way of reckoning
Two lost souls
That need a home
To find a way through anything
And make it together

I don't wanna be anything less
Than forever, nah
We can go head first into the storm
And come out better
Oh you can count on me to be
The one that loves without a need
For you to be anything else but yourself
I'm here for whatever

I'll hold you close and never let go
You've heard it said but never felt
Those words come true when all else
Is falling through I promise you
I'll be the rock worth clinging to
Oh love, I'll be the one

A midwest boy
A girl from East
Who would've dreamt of such a thing
But now I know
The Good Lord holds
A funny way of reckoning
Two lost souls
That need a home
To find a way through anything
And make it together

I don't wanna
Miss a beat and skip the moment
Let's stay on it
Where you are is where I'm supposed to be I'll keep this honest
There's a thousand roads
That we could go
And each one feels like home
Knowing it's you me and God forever
It don't matter

I'll hold you close and never let go
You've heard it said but never felt
Those words come true when all else
Is falling through I promise you
I'll be the rock worth clinging to

A midwest boy

A girl from East
But now I know
The Good Lord holds
That need a home

A midwest boy
