

Blame Yourself

Mustard Plug

You were so angry
Came with a boycott
Called up your friends and you called the press
Cried from the mountain
With righteous anger
As I was busy cleaning up the mess

And I can't stand up for falling down
And I don't know where the sea makes the second ground
Can't stop the earth from spinning round
Another tree falling doesn't make a sound

Blame yourself for the car you drive
You should have known better but you spread the lie
Blame yourself for the gas you buy
You should have known better but you'll never learn, you'll never learn

A year later
None wiser
You drove away but you didn't see me
All of your anger
Now forgotten
A fairy sticker on your SUV

I can't stand up for falling down
And I don't know where the sea makes the second ground
Can't stop the earth from spinning round
Another tree falling doesn't make a sound

Blame yourself for the car you drive
You should have known better but you spread the lie
Blame yourself for the gas you buy
You should have known better but you'll never learn, you'll never learn

You'll never learn
You'll never learn
You'll never learn

You'll never learn
You'll never learn
You'll never learn
You'll never learn
