

Architecture

Mutemath

Are you not unaware of the signs your silence bears out loudly
So all these notes, the lucky dares to fill my spaces, lose my cares for speaking
How do I get lost inside the center of the thoughts when everyb ody's got a plot for me
How can I explain in a structure words cannot contain
There's no more slogans in the frame from me

There's no architecture, architecture
There's no architecture for how I feel
There's no architecture, there's no architecture
There's no architecture for how I feel

There's smoke, words become Diplomats holding on to empty guns
They're out hunting
A tired love has found me
It can't be got
The mixture of the heart is free
All this building and building

There's no architecture, architecture
There's no architecture for how I feel

There's no architecture, there's no architecture
There's no, there's no architecture for how I feel

There's no architecture
There's no architecture
There's no architecture
How I feel
There ain't no architecture how I feel
Feel
