

So young, so dumb
Naivety's my only skill
So young, so dumb
It's only ever gone downhill

I've got so much to learn still
In what seems like so little time
And there's no one to help me
In this metaphorical climb, so I'll Say "no, I don't need your help
I promise I'm doing fine"
But the truth is that I'm really lost
And I felt the need to decline your help

So I'm young still, and I'm dumb still Young still, and dumb still
And it's only ever gone downhill
It's only ever gone downhill

You would think by now
I would understand how to figure stuff out
But I barely know myself, and even
That brings me some doubt
And I'm honestly trying, but
It's so hard to ask for some help
Like, I'm okay, but I'm drowning
And I've got two words, they're "oh well"

Oh well, oh well, oh well
Oh well, oh well, oh well

And I'm so scared of the future
It's only a matter of time
'Till I've got to grow up and
My life could just turn on a dime
But for now, I'm young still, and I'm dumb still
And I'm taking one step at a time
I'm young still, and I'm dumb still
And enjoying my life in the meantime

Enjoying my life in the meantime
Enjoying my life in the meantime
Enjoying my life in the meantime