plastic pony

I bought a ticket to life, rose-colored eyes
Made a home in halls of mirrors
It was all fun and games, love what I played
But now I see a little clearer

Cotton candy lost its taste and
Now I know why
Popcorn doesn't feel the same and
Neither do I
The more that I see myself
The less that I know about me
Was riding the carousel
Up and down on a plastic pony
The ride is now winding down
The music is fading slowly
I gotta go find myself
Say goodbye to my plastic pony

Paint starts to peel, rust on the wheel
Sadness in the neon letters

Longing for more, life is too short
Nothing good can last forever

Cotton candy lost its taste and
Now I know why (Now I know why)
Summer nights don't feel the same and
Neither do I

The more that I see myself
The less that I know about me
Was riding the carousel
Up and down on a plastic pony
The ride is now winding down
The music is fading slowly
I gotta go find myself
Say goodbye to my plastic pony
Plastic, plastic, plastic pony
Plastic, plastic, plastic pony
Plastic, plastic, plastic pony
Plastic, plastic, plastic pony
