

Life Goals

MxPx

Broken friendships committed rivals
Don't believe in those hyped-up idols
Those messed up thoughts are not your own
Someone shared with you, and some are going alone
Why look mama now that your boy is grown
You swear your thoughts are not your own

One day you're walking around
The next day you're nowhere to be found
Now you're buried six feet under ground

Tribute the past, live a life of no regret
Repair the mast, the sail is true and holds us fast
And it's good to have life goals
And it's good to have life goals

Failed to notice way off course
Made the freight run despite the bad discourse
All the way to hell, like a tour de force

One day you're walking around
The next day you're nowhere to be found
Failed to keep it undercover

One day you're walking around
The next day you're nowhere to be found
Now you're buried six feet under ground

A bridge to nowhere
Still takes you somewhere
But you never know
Until you get there

Raise up the bar, looking back with no regret
Death knows how close, that's a life that most don't get
But it's good to have life goals
It's good to have life goals