

Mistakes Will Be Made

MxPx

Sometimes I wish I
Could hit the rewind
On some things that I've
Done in my lifetime
But that's not how it works
There's no going back
Let's fix all we can
And live well, that's the plan

I remember I would chase you around the room
And then you'd turn it all around and chase me too
And when I think of staring back into your eyes
Those are the moments
Those are the good times

We choose to be who we are in some ways
In some ways we don't
In some ways we have a little too much
And some never won't
But that's not the point that I've been trying to make
All I've been saying is this won't be my last mistake

Cause there will be days
In so many ways
When your head's hanging low
When you lost all control
I know you need to be free
To let your heart open wide
It's been a long winding road
And you've been right here the whole time
Just know mistakes will be made

And now I hear the sirens going down the street
But these days it doesn't bother me
As long as we got internet and food to eat
We'll shut out the world and live rent free

We choose to be who we are in some ways
In some ways we don't
In some ways we have a little too much
And some never won't
But that's not the point that I've been trying to make
All I've been saying is this won't be my last mistake

Cause there will be days
When your world is ablaze
When your head's hanging low
When you lost all control

I think you need to let go
I know I need to let go
So much was meant to be different
But now we gotta think different
Just know mistakes will be made

Although mistakes will be made
I'm out of takes for today

I've lost our game of charades
Just know mistakes will be made

Made

Although mistakes will be made
I'm out of takes for today
I've lost our game of charades
Just know mistakes will be made
