

The Company You Keep

Myka Relocate

Oh!

Hear the sound

Hear the sound

Been stuck on repeat

Letting you get the best of me

Never knowing what I, what I should believe

No can't escape

They say you never knew me in the first place

No, no heart beneath

Just a hook to sink my teeth

Can't decide if I should stay cause I'm lost in my head

I'm swinging, stand between who I could be and who I am

Because I'm searching for meaning, I latch, onto every word that you spit out, just to hear the sound (hear the sound, hear the sound)

Losing myself, put me through hell this is, my world, I'll take it down

No, won't take you back no buying, so drop the act

No, not losing faith

Nothing's stopping me

Can't decide if I should stay cause I'm lost in my head

I'm swinging, stand between who I could be and who I am

Because I'm searching for meaning, I latch, onto every word that you spit out just to hear the sound (hear the sound, hear the sound, hear the sound, hear the sound)

So now I gotta choose between, feeling complete and making you believe

That I'm not naive, and I really don't care if you agree

Trying to find, trying to find anything out there at all

To believe, to believe in now

Searching for meaning

I latch on to every word that you spit out

Can't decide if I should stay cause I'm lost in my head

I'm swinging, stand between who I could be and who I am

Because I'm searching for meaning I latch, onto every word

that you spit out just to hear the sound

Can't decide if I should stay cause I'm lost in my head (lost in my head)

I'm swinging, stand between who I could be and who I am

Because I'm searching for meaning, I latch, onto every word that you spit out just to hear the sound (just to hear the sound, hear the sound, hear the sound)