

Through Different Eyes

Mystery

Where did you go?
Mother of the Angels
Whatever went wrong?
Angels turned to orphans

And the school kids forever wait
For the bus will never show

Where have you gone?
Gentle marching drummer
What could be done?
To break this rhythm silence

And the sorrow turns to pain
In the sound of falling rain

Do you see the children laughing?
Do you feel the mothers crying?
Do you hear the music playing?
And dance with the butterfly
Do you feel the cold rain falling?

What have you done?
Couldn't you come to someone?
The damage is done
There's no turning back now

And the sorrow turns to pain
In the sound of falling rain

Can you see the children laughing?
Can you feel the mothers crying?
Can you hear the music playing?
And dance with the butterflies
Can you hear the echoes calling?

How long you've been down?
Wasn't anyone around?
As you wandered in the Hall

How deep was the fall?
Weren't you frightened at all?
As your wings touched the ground?

I see the world through different eyes

How sad were the clowns?
When the circus came around
In this old dirty town

How precious was the Crown?
That the three children found
And turned the world up-side down

I see the world through different eyes

How nice is the sound?

When the music surrounds
This Lonesome face in the crowd

What's left of me just lies behind
So far away
I see a light beyond my life
So far away
What's left of me just lies behind
So far away

What's left of me just lies behind
So far away, so far away
I see a light beyond my life
So far away

And light emerges from their cries
So far away so far away
Now tears are falling from the skies
So far away

So far away, so far away

I see the world through Different eyes
So far away so far away

So far away

My world is crumbling down
Roaring-like thunder sound
Please tell me where I stand

Oh I can hear the voices calling my name

I know you'll never let me go

It comes as no surprise
Only the strong survive
Just tell me where we stand

The more you are standing tall
Much deeper is the fall
Into the Neverland

Oh I feel I am falling
Please hold my hand

I know you'll never let me go
And you know I'll never let you go

I hear the voice of those who cry
My faith reflecting into their eyes
Am I to die?

Unspoken words from prayers denied
Are washed to shore within this tide
Am I to die?

The sky below so beautiful
The clouds surround me like Madrigal
We never die

The winds of fall reviving all
The falling leaves in marble halls

We never die
We never die...

If only you knew all the tears
That just fall from these eyes
And the sorrow that is drowning my life

If you could hear the silent scream
That cuts through the night
And the echoes stabbing my soul

If you could feel all the love
That just dies in this heart
Then you'd know that it tears me apart
It tears me apart

Still the sorrow turns to pain
In the sound of falling rain

When I hear the children laughing
When I feel the mothers crying
Then I hear the music playing
I see you there with the butterflies
I can hear your echoes calling
