

All Is a Game

Nada Surf

Do you wake up and lie there and think it through
Is the weight of your own life too much for you

Well it all is a game
Yeah, you forgot to play
You did
Yeah, you forgot to play
You did

Woke up an hour after the clock
Remembered the details and wanted to stop

Mistakes in my life,
it goes so far up
Bit my finger a lot
Haven't you had enough

But first, I gotta find money
Gotta get much
Tell me something funny
Cuz, I'm cracking up a little

And when I see stars I know I'm alright
I go scary far
From the dark to the light
But it all is a game

Yeah, you forgot to play
You did
Yeah, you forgot to play
You did

It all is a game
Yeah, you forgot to play
You did
Yeah, you forgot to play
You did

Ooo, ooo,

The stove is open
Cus it's cold
Got a stack of possessions
To be sold

And there's a hallway
To a doorway
To a room that you're in

And in there all day
The walls are, you say
The sky's whatever you say

It all is a game
Yeah, you forgot to play
You did
Yeah, you forgot to play

You did

It all is a game
Yeah, you forgot to play
You did
Yeah, you forgot to play
You did

all is a game
Yeah, you forgot to play
You did
