

Today Sunshine Ain't The Same

Nahemah

Don't worry about the miles
You never drove
Cause they're there, outside,
Waiting for your tyres.

Don't worry about the things
You never said
It doesn't matter...
They will listen.

Today sunshine ain't the same
Its rays are described
With an optimistic pen.

Hope grows inside a wound,
An accelerated culture rides
Inside my veins,
And the youth I left years ago
Is resurrected in my mirror.

Don't worry about the words
You never wrote
Cause they've never been forgotten
And your mind never removed them

Don't worry about the things
You never did
They'll be done
And everything is gonna be okay.
