

30 Something

Nao

I don't give a- today
Always on best behaviour
Listening to Brandy like I wanna wake up
Left behind my 20 something
But I know that a good thing's coming
If I left my worries slip away
Not the same old thoughts on different days
But I'm different this time

'Cause I've been holding on to shit that don't belong to
Who am I as a 30 something
And the story I'm in always brings me right back to
Places that I've gone to even though I don't want to
All I really know is I'm 30 something
And I've had my first kid and I'm starting to see it's
All good, all good
So, so, so, so, so, so, so good

Dreaming I was 23, mattress on the ground
Looking up at the ceiling as the sun is setting down
And I thought then what I know now was the best time but it's gone now
And I wake up and I come to and I realise what I'm next to Dishes in the kitchen, yeah, my sleep ain't getting better
And I love my baby daughter, sometimes motherhood's whatever
And I swear I wouldn't change this for the soft life or the lie ins
For Sundays watching cartoons

'Cause I've been holding on to shit that don't belong to
Who am I as a 30 something
And the story I'm in always brings me right back to
Places that I've gone to even though I don't want to
All I really know is I'm 30 something
And I've had my first kid and I'm starting to see it's
All good
So, so, so, so, so, so, so good
Everything will be all good
Yeah

I live my life anywhere it goes, anywhere it goes, anywhere it goes
I live my life anyway it goes, anyway it goes, anyway it goes
I live my life anywhere it goes, anywhere it goes, anywhere it goes
I live my life anyway it goes, anyway it goes

I live my life anywhere it goes, anywhere it goes, anywhere it goes
I live my life anyway it goes, anyway it goes, anyway it goes
I live my life anywhere it goes, anywhere it goes, anywhere it goes
I live my life anyway it goes, anyway it goes
