

Love Is The Devil

Natalie Jane

I can never really tell the truth
Whenever somebody brings up you
Hear your name sets a flame
Burns to think of all the shame

After all the shit you put me through
Especially because your love was all I knew
Looking back at photographs
When you would hide behind a mask

Yeah, I always wondered if I was fine
You made me believe the lie

Love is the devil, I can't explain
Just how your words do some shit to my brain
Love is the devil, it always tries
To come in and haunt me and mess with my mind
It is bitter that I wouldn't let myself leave
I am stuck in all the history, the happy memories
Now I see love is the devil, blinded by hate
Started a war with my heart
I'm like, maybe I've been mad

Felt like a 100 years than a couple thousand tons of tears
Walked away, I was okay, but not for long, another came Perfect when it all begun, shot to hell just like a gun
Broken, hopeless, scars reopened

I always wondered is I was fine
You made me believe the lie

Love is the devil, I can't explain
Just how your words do some shit to my brain
Love is the devil, it always tries
To come in and haunt me and mess with my mind
It is bitter that I wouldn't let myself leave
I am stuck in all the history, the happy memories
Now I see love is the devil, blinded by hate
Started a war with my heart
I'm like maybe I've been mad

I always wondered if I was fine
Stuck to believe a lie
If all that I knew was the worst of my life
Why would I think otherwise?

Love is the devil, I can't explain
Just how your words do some shit to my brain
Love is the devil, it always tries
To come in and haunt me and mess with my mind
It is bitter that I wouldn't let myself leave
I am stuck in all the history, the happy memories
Now I see love is the devil, blinded by hate
Started a war with my heart
I'm like, maybe I've been mad