

Lighthearted

Natasha Bedingfield

I'm not running, I'm not the one afraid
To face something that caused me pain
Yeah, I'm coming to take the power away
From whatever tries to break me

In the shower and I'm crying
You said it would be tough and you weren't lying

I've lived through the darkness like this
Made it to the morning
And I'm lighthearted, hearted, lighthearted
Maybe there's a sun in my chest
Can't say what it is
But I'm lighthearted, hearted, light hearted (yeah)

I got reasons to never trust again
To shut down, live in the bitterness
Could close up and never love again
But I'm choosing to be open

In the shower and I'm crying
I can't kill the hope somewhere deep inside, yeah

I've lived through the darkness like this
Made it to the morning
And I'm lighthearted, hearted, lighthearted
Maybe there's a sun in my chest
Can't say what it is
But I'm lighthearted, hearted, light hearted

I've lived through the darkness like this
Made it to the morning
And I'm lighthearted, hearted, lighthearted
Maybe there's a sun in my chest
Can't say what it is
But I'm lighthearted, hearted, light hearted

Ooh, yeah yeah yeah yeah
