

Bittersweet

Nate Smith

Bittersweet
Like the wine that you were drinking
The first time that you kissed me
Laid back in my backseat

Bittersweet
Like the last sunset of summer
And the stars that we were under
When you swore you'd never leave

Maybe one day we'll sit down and have a beer and talk about it
Maybe that'll be the first time we can both be honest
What went right and what went wrong
But the last line of the song of you and me
Is always gonna be bittersweet

Bittersweet
When I heard that you were happy
Didn't think that it would get me, but it did

Bittersweet is how it ends
We can't be lovers, can't be friends
Can't go back to us again
That's how it is

Maybe one day we'll sit down and have a beer and talk about it
Maybe that'll be the first time we can both be honest
What went right and what went wrong
But the last line of the song of you and me
Is always gonna be
Bittersweet, yeah
Oh, it's always gonna be bittersweet

Maybe I wish I could hate you
Maybe I wish you could love me
But baby, we're somewhere in between
Bittersweet
Yeah

Maybe one day we'll sit down and have a beer and talk about it
Maybe that'll be the first time we can both be honest
What went right and what went wrong
But the last line of the song of you and me
Is always gonna be
Bittersweet

Yeah
