

Enough

Navy Blue

All of my genetic makeup
Wounded 'cause they often take some
Faded most the day to shape up
Wonder if I didn't say enough

Shaded underneath the tree of life
I would run away from truly seeing life
I couldn't sleep at night, I could only crash on some bad advice
I was living badly, it's truly asinine
I would smoke away my face to pass the time
Fishing for relief but couldn't cast a line
I made it out the murky dark, it's just to shine
I don't believe in luck, I'm done with being kind with no reciprocation
Devils on my mind, life is very special
Love is in my eyes
Sea is getting better when I do the sign to keep up with the work
Tethered to my pride, embark on my endeavours
Ready to surmise
All that I suppressed was next to fleet of flight
I call my momma, pressed
Depression in a bind, desperate measures reunite
My sanity with vanity, I'm ill-advised
I'm under oath and both my eyes are crying tears
And that's the truth, nothing else amounts to fear
Post panic, peace to love but I ain't here
Yeah

All of my genetic makeup
Wounded 'cause they often take some
Faded most the day to shape up
I wonder if I didn't say enough
All of my genetic makeup
Wounded 'cause they often take some
Faded most the day to shape up
I wonder if I didn't say enough
All of my genetic makeup
Wounded 'cause they often take some
Faded most the day to shape up
I wonder if I didn't say enough
All of my genetic makeup
Wounded 'cause they often take some
Faded most the day to shape up
I wonder if I didn't say enough
All of my genetic makeup
Wounded 'cause they often take some
Faded most the day to shape up
I wonder if I didn't say enough
All of my genetic makeup
Wounded 'cause they often take some
Faded most the day to shape up
I wonder if I didn't say enough
All of my genetic makeup