

No Difference

Navy Blue

Yeah

I can read my heart it beats
It tells me what I'm going through
My flower bloomed, and died then came alive
This life was meant for you, baby boy
You the one who play the fool and hurt yourself
For fleeting joy, I always been the type to preach them then avoid Feeling' voids is what I do, it's just true I got no time to waste
I wasted too much time getting by to my perspective change
Let my desperate measures rain and wash away my ego
And what was left of me though
Just tell me where this key go
Major Key Alert, I got the key, the key, the key
The kid done change
Admit my ways it's not the way to keep from pain that I done felt
All these years all this hell
All these tears waves done swell collect my fears burn them down
I am here to stay and make it all worth it I was never perfect mind body spirit merging into one

I've become who I never thought I'd ever be a blessed being I repeat
I've become who I never thought I'd ever be a blessed being Uh

Ain't no difference between you and me we are all human beings
Ain't no difference between you and me we are all human beings
Ain't no difference between you and me we are all human beings
Ain't no difference between you and me we are human beings
