

The Gift

Navy Blue

Yeah, yeah

Yeah

Navy Blue the Truest

The Truest

Land of the Magnolia, ballot of a dead soldier
Take these broken wings and let 'em heal and now I'm sober
Years later, we still zooming in a Rover
Down the river, East to West, the many tribes of North and South Dakota
I turn the other cheek and often give the colder shoulder
Self loather, soft leather worn the moment frozen Fall autumn leaves it had to be
Shattered dreams the other side of ease
My fruits of labor never came up off a tree
Depression got up off of me
My breath is sacred and it's deep, my spliff was thrown within the breeze
Repeat cause Navy in reprise
Solo sail the Seven Seas
Lonely only in a dream
Total faces getting stack
Silent faded in the back
Solar faded into black
Polar opposites attract
I pull the hair up out the hat
'Cause my response is no reaction
Hoping that I catch 'em, reciprocal reflection carry a crystal for protection
Dismal but he destined, we know the essence
Effervescent feelings strong, I can't suppress 'em
Left me guessing as of late, I'm with the extras
This my protection is much more than beaded necklaces
It's much more then beaded necklaces

What's a loss to a deficit?

The cost of my reckoning

The thoughts of me getting bent

I ain't got that much to say, I meditate my solar sent

My brother had a baby boy and we rejoice to welcome him

What's a loss to a deficit?

The cost of my reckoning

The thought of me getting bent

I ain't got that much to say, I meditate my solar sent

My brother had a baby boy and we rejoice to welcome him

We rejoice to welcome him, my brother had a baby boy