

Reaching Out To Find You

Needtobreathe

Sometimes it takes a while
But we might have to give up the side we're on
'Cause if we ever wanna reconcile
We might have to erase the lines we've drawn

Just like the river breaks the canyon wide
It's just so hard to reach the other side

If we're honest, the first step's the hardest to take
But the truth is that time heals, but not all the way
So I'm reaching out to find you
I'm tired of keeping score
I'm done with all the hiding
So I'm reaching out to find you

There's always give in the forgiveness
I guess that's just the chance we'll have to take
'Cause silence ain't the answer
It never makes the point we're trying to make

If we're honest, the first step's the hardest to take
But the truth is that time heals, but not all the way
So I'm reaching out to find you
I'm tired of keeping score
I'm done with all the hiding
So I'm reaching out to find you

Just like the river breaks the canyon wide
It's just so hard to reach the other side

If we're honest, the first step's the hardest to take
But the truth is that time heals, but not all the way

If we're honest, the first step's the hardest to take
But the truth is that time heals, but not all the way
So I'm reaching out to find you
I'm tired of keeping score
Oh, I'm done with all the hiding
So I'm reaching out to find you

I'm reaching out to find you
I'm reaching out to find you