

Crossroads

Neil Sedaka

Change, I guess you're bound to have your way with me.
Time, no time to think about what used to be.
Just the never ending motion of a clock upon the wall,
A deep uneasy feeling of the axe about to fall.
Say my God I'm gettin' older,
Waitin' at the crossroads of my life.

Say, does anybody know the way to go?
God, help me to know what is and is not so.
I feel so lonely sometimes, can't help but be afraid,
Doubt and indecision get in all the plans I made.
Will it be this way for ever,
Waitin' at the crossroads of my life.

Duh duh duh duh duh duh, duh duh duh, the crossroads.
Duh duh duh duh duh duh, duh duh duh, the crossroads.
Duh duh duh duh duh duh, duh duh duh, the crossroads.
Duh duh duh duh duh duh, duh duh duh, the crossroads.

Well, no tellin' where it is I go from here.
I'm so very tired and my thoughts aren't clear.
My dear God if you're in heaven, won't you write and let me know,
I've come so very far, is it very far to go?
Have pity on this traveller
Waitin' at the crossroads of my life.

Oh,
Duh duh duh duh duh duh, duh duh duh, the crossroads.
Duh duh duh duh duh duh, duh duh duh, the crossroads.
Duh duh duh duh duh duh, duh duh duh, the crossroads.
Duh duh duh duh duh duh, duh duh duh, the crossroads...
