

White noise zone

Nell

The world is calm behind the door.
All the questions and answers I know
Not many enters this place
In your home I find myself

In w white noise zone everything is static
And white noise I wish you said something I didn't know Everything is static at your home
I wish you said something I didn't know

The cats lay asleep so tender your touch Think after all I don't owe you that much so come an come up with answers to all of my doubts I stay at y our home

In the white noise zone everything is static
and white noise I wish you said something I didn't know Everything is static
At your home I find myself in a white noise zone