Twilight

You say you care That you don't want to fight the light But you just stare Into the past the darkest night You gaze around Afraid to look into the light And your heart pounds Into the waking dark the night Tell me that you're gonna fight to rule the day The day The night Form the twilight inside The day The night The twilight deep inside You fear the day You say you cannot stand the light Afraid to stay You run away into the night Tell me that you're gonna fight to rule the day The day The night Form the twilight inside The day The night The twilight deep inside You say you care That you don't want to fight the light The day The night Form the twilight inside The day The night The twilight deep inside
