Neon Synthesis

The sky is turning red
while we await our punishment
Heaven's weeping on us
Meteor summoned from above
The sky is turning red
while we await our punishment
Heaven's weeping on us
the wound is deeper than our sins

Ancient cells injected into human blood genetically engineered to bring Mother back to life Alchemy of rebirth glass tanks under spell or curse a race of gods is rising science melts with theology

The death of a planet brings back the memory of fate as threat is getting closer Lifestream bleeds with energy Crippled shadows heading north to the crater of Reunion black capes in white catharsis following our master on

In the depth of the reactor the headless body is changing shape four forms of the mutation birth - life - death - synthesis

And you were like a martyr god the beautiful mirror of our corruption another white dove on an altar another sacrifice The chosen one, to bear the mark of the alien parasite another white dove on an altar another sacrifice