

Expiration Date

NERIAH

I can feel it in bed with the lights out
Drive in silence, we talk with our eyes down
How'd this home turn into a house?
I wish I could kiss you like I used to
Is it bad that I don't even want to?
We don't laugh, we just know how to argue

Oh, and I bet you wish that you could blame me
That would make this so easy
You can't even stand to face me
It's okay for you to hate me

I never thought, you'd be the one
Why do I always fall out of love?
Slow-burn, we're turning on
We're flying too close to the sun
You can see it in my eyes
I've never been good at lying
So what's the point in tryna stay
When we have an expiration date?

I've been feeling this way for a while now
Thought that maybe I could fake a smile
But weight on my chest is pulling me down

Oh, and I bet you wish that you could blame me
That would make this so easy
You can't even stand to face me
It's okay for you to hate me

I never thought, you'd be the one
Why do I always fall out of love?
Slow-burn, we're turning on
We're flying too close to the sun
You can see it in my eyes
I've never been good at lying
So what's the point in tryna stay
When we have an expiration date?

I don't want polite conversations
I wanna feel like nothing's changing
I don't wanna tip-toe around you, around you

I never thought, you'd be the one
Why do I always fall out of love?
Slow-burn, we're turning on
We're flying too close to the sun
You can see it in my eyes
I've never been good at lying
So what's the point in tryna stay
When we have an expiration date?