Home

Neurotech

where is the price to pay for the life you've thrown away could you believe it is gone every word you say may never go away try to focus and listen

i am what you are searching for i've got something to believe in i am the one you've been looking for i have something you are missing

i tried to find it
just can't believe it
try to find my way home take me home

home

i am what you are searching for i've got something to believe in i am the one you've been looking for i have something you are missing take me home

home