

I Don't Need The City

Neuroticfish

There's a place where all the people used to go
To ease the pain and cure the suffering
They try to hide their every day prostitution
They value themselves by comparing themselves to others

They're not like me
I keep my self-deception
Behind a mask of pride and dignity
It seems to me
That they are searching all day
Not knowing what they will find to be

I don't need the city
It never cared for me
I don't need this pity
Of tranquility
I want to see the blue sky
But darkened clouds I see
I don't need the city
I don't need this

There's a place where all the people used to be
And suffocate from all their lies
Somehow they have managed all their misbehavior
To the point of this despite

They're not like me
I hide my self-reflection
Behind a wall of privacy
It seems to me
That I have found my pleasures
In watching them drowning, slowly

I don't need the city
It never cared for me
I don't need this pity
Of tranquility
I want to see the blue sky
But darkened clouds I see
I don't need the city
I don't need this

I don't need this
I don't want this
I don't need this

I don't need the city
It never cared for me
I don't need this pity
Of tranquility
I want to see the blue sky
But darkened clouds I see
I don't need the city
I don't need this
